Election of officers will take place at the May meeting. New officers will take charge at the June meeting.

NOTICES =

✓ Rockland County Records — Want to know the names of residents in Rockland County as far back as 1855? Want to know the tax rates in the different towns of Rockland County back in the 19th century? Do you want to research the dog tax, military tax, or hydrant tax? According to a note from Peter Scheibner, of the Rockland County Archivist Office, "A Guide to Rockland County Tax and Assessment Records (1855-1940)" is available for Clarkstown, Haverstraw, Ramapo, Orangetown, and Stony Point on microfilm at the Rockland County Clerk's office at 27 New Hempstead Road, New City. Hours are 9-5 Monday throught Friday. Phone: 914-638-5651. Ask to see the County Archivist.

✓ Cortland County Records — According to Genealogist and writer Loren Fay, writing in his online bulletin "NY Genealogy News," research in Cortland County, NY, at the Cortland County Historical Society, 25 Homer Avenue, Cortland, NY 13045, has become a little easier on site, because they have indexed all of their census record holdings from 1820 to 1925, including all federal and state census records of Cortland County, NY! (The area was not settled till after 1790; the 1800 census is with Onondaga County; and the 1810 is missing, perhaps burned in the war of 1812.) These indexes are available only at their library. They have an able staff of genealogy volunteers who did the indexing and who answer the mail for the research library. Send an sase for the latest info on their fees and other requirements, or call 607-756-6071. Hours are Tuesday thru Saturday 1 pm to 5 pm for use of their library. A fee is charged per hour or day of research to use the library. Along with census records, their cemetery records are all indexed and they have hundreds of family files and almost every newspaper of the county on film.

✓ FGS Conference in Rochester — A National Genealogical Conference, "In Your Ancestors' Image," will be held in Rochester, NY August 14-17, 1996. The conference will feature more than 90 genealogical lectures geared to every skill level; more than 60 vendors offering a wide variety of genealogical products and services; society management workshops; and various opportunities for networking with other genealogists. For a program brochure and additional information, write to In Your Ancestor's Image, Federation of Genealogical Societies, P.O. Box 3385, Salt Lake City, UT 84110-3385 (phone: 214-907-9727). If you have internet access, Dick Halsey, Exhibit chair, has updated the www homepage for the conference, which now includes a listing of all the program sessions, prices of hotels, and conference costs. Check it out at: http://www.vivanet.com/~halsey/fgs96.html

✓ Association of Blauvelt Descendants

— The 634-member Association of Blauvelt Descendants has announced plans for an Open House in June and its 70th Annual Reunion in September. The Open House will be held on June 8, 1996 from 1-4 p.m. at the Hiram Blauvelt Wildlife Museum, 750 Kinderkamack Road, Oradell, NJ. All are welcome who are interested in more information on the Association.

The 70th Annual Reunion will be held on September 21, 1996 at New Castle Delaware. The site was chosen for its Dutch historical roots (founded by Peter Stuyvesant) and because of its proximity to the restoration of the ship, Kalmer Nyckel, which will be visited during the afternoon by the group. In 1638, Gerrit Hendrickson Blauvelt arrived from Holland at Swede's Landing, aboard the Swedish ship Kalmer Nyckel. The main meeting and luncheon will be held at the Arsenal on the Green Restaurant in New Castle. For additional information contact Association president Susan Heilmann 201-891-0753 (Wyckoff, NJ).

✓ Quaker Conference — A Quaker Historians and Archivists Conference will be held June 21 - 23, 1996, at Oakwood Friends School, Poughkeepsie, NY. Topics covered will be various historical overviews of Friends history and concerns, and biographical explorations. For additional information, call Elizabeth Moger at (516) 621-1626 or Alson VanWagner at (609) 261-3996. Room and board will be available at the school at reasonable rates, such as $30 for a shared room or $65 for a single room, per day, and registration for the event is $20.

✓ South Street Seaport/NYG&B Exhibit & Programs — An exhibit entitled "Flesh & Blood: New Yorkers Search for Their Immigrant Roots" sponsored by the South Street Seaport Museum (at the Museum's Whitman Gallery, 209 Water Street) opens on May 8 and runs through October 27. The exhibit covers the perspective of 13 New Yorkers who have researched their immigrant ancestors who arrived as early as 1624 and as recently as 1952. In collaboration with the Museum, the New York Genealogical & Biographical Society has planned a program of lectures and a walking tour between May 19 and June 19. Lecture topics include "Researching Your Roots Through Maritime Records" (May 29 and June 19) and "South Street's Merchant Families — A Walking Tour" (June 15). For additional information and reservations, call 212-748-8590.

STATE (OR AREA) CHRONOLOGIES AND ANCESTOR CHRONOLOGIES

Genealogist and author Loren Fay, writing in his online (internet) column, "NY Genealogy News," suggests making a chronology (or timeline) for ancestors and the areas they lived in.

A chronology of basic resources for the New York State area would include:

1607/1620s... Dutch exploration and early settlements begin...

1683... counties organized in NY Colony pre 1710... check church and published records.

1710... Palatines come to NY... (look up other group migrations...)

1740... colonial war records (militia lists)

1770s... revolutionary war

1790... first US census (every ten years since...)

1790s... flood of New England migrations thru NY to western areas begins...

1812... war records (militia lists)

1840s... pensioners and survivors of wars...

1850... US censuses begin to list all names of the people...

1855... NY State censuses begin to list all names of the people...

1860s... Civil war records...

1881+... Vital Records in NY State

1880 & 1900... censuses tell parent's birth places...

Make an Ancestor Chronology: this will help you see life events in correlation to record sources. Include:

Name of ancestor
year of birth
year started school year started occupation year married years of childrens births years and significant events in his/her life years of marriages or deaths of children or wife/wives year of death.

Resumes of Past Programs at Meetings of the Genealogical Society of Rockland County

Creative Memories

Program presented by Lisa Kangas at the February 27, 1996 meeting of the Genealogical Society of Rockland County. Notes by Joan Brooks, Recording Secretary.

Ms. Kangas is a consultant for Creative Memories, a company that provides workshops and classes on preserving photographs, clippings, etc., as well as offering for sale archival quality photo albums and other supplies. She stated that most people store photos and old family documents in attics or basements, and it is a wonder that any of these survive. In addition, many photos are not labeled. Ideally, all photos should be labeled properly and placed in archival photo albums. Family photos help to provide hope for the future by building generations. We spend a lot of money on cameras, film, and devloping; then we usually put the photos in a box or drawer. An average family takes approximately 800 pictures over seven years (this is a Kodak estimate).

There are several types of archival albums in which t store these photos:

1, Magnetic Page Album — The plastic pages in the cheap albums contain PVC, and the cardboard and glue contain acid, which destroy photographs.

2. Slip-In Pocket Page Album — Some of these are Mylar and Polypropylene and are safe; others contain PVC and will ruin pictures. This album and the one mentioned above are not ideal since they limit the size of the photos and also the direction on the page. Do not use ball point pen or felt tip marker to label photos, since they are very acidic. You can use a Stabilo pen which is acid-free and does not smudge.

3. Scrapbook-style Album — These have different bindings — spiral, post-bound, and looseleaf. None of these are very good. Creative Memories has a scrapbook-style album called Webway, which is acid-free and lignine-free; you can write on the page and can add other memorabilia. The page can be laid out any way you want. The pages will stay white, and the edges are reinforced. It has a flex-hinge binding, which will expand so that pages can be added. This will allow the album to be kept flat. They are all manufactured in Minnesota and come with a lifetime guarantee.

There are several safe mounting choices:

1. Photo split — acid free

2. Photo tape — double sided

3. Photo corners — polypropylene and mylar — come in different sizes and are self-adhesive

4. Wet adhesive for odd-shaped items — not too good for photos

5. Tape runner — dispenser in 1/16" increments — for corners

Albums should be stored at 70 degrees F. with 40% humidity, and should be stood upright to prevent photo abrasion. The entire page can be covered with plastic (photo sleeves). It is recommended that black and white pictures be taken at least once a year, since they last longer than color pictures.

To make an album more memorable, do not use photos alone, but add handwritten comments, which in the long run will mean more to future generations, since it is part of history. The ink used should be pigma ink, which will not fade, and it is acid-free. This can be purchased in art supply stores and comes in six colors and broad and fine points.

When preserving a newspaper article, it is better to make a Xerox copy on archival paper than to keep the actual article, since newsprint is very highly acidic. If the original is kept, it should be put in a plastic sleeve so the acid does not affect other memorabilia in the album.

There are special "cropping" scissors which can be used to trim photos with several types of decorative edges. Creative Memories also has several different templates — oval, circle, rectangle, etc., to place over photos to vary the page. Acid-free colored paper can also be used to trim photos. Mrs. Grossman's stickers can also be used to decorate the page. They also have a personal paper trimmer to trim photos and a paper "rounder." Finally, Creative Memories published an idea book to help you plan the pages in the album. There are several album styles to choose from.

More information about these products and workshops can be obtained from: Lisa Kangas, Creative Memories Consultant, 166 South Highland Avenue, Apt. 9, Nyack, NY 10960 (914-353-8950). ■

Resumes of Past Programs at Meetings of the Genealogical Society of Rockland County

Odell Family Genealogy and Sandyfields

Program presented by Clare Odell Schaper at the March 26, 1996 meeting of the Genealogical Society of Rockland County. Notes by Joan Brooks, Recording Secretary.

Clare is of the twelfth generation of Odells in America. The family is originally English. There is much information from many genealogies over the years on the Odell family, but there are some discrepancies. The Bishop's transcripts from Bedfordshire (England) are a very good source of genealogical information on this family. According to Clare, it has been proven that this family had come from the coast of France with William the Conqueror and fought at the Battle of Hastings (1066).

The original name "Odell" began as "Woodell, Woodhull, Odel, or Odle." In Bedfordshire, most of the spellings were Woodhull. Many marriages of Williams, Richards, Johns, etc., were recorded there, and these names have been perpetuated in the families that came to America. The royalty and knight lines appear to be very strong.

Clare reiterated that we need to listen to members of our families before they are gone, since that is the best source to start with. Some of the genealogists that have researched this family have gone back to Alfred the Great and Charlemagne. There are some similarities among the information of these genealogists — Jacobus, Hacker, Keller, etc. There is the manor of Odell in the Parish of Bedfordshire, and the name is "Wahull." In the Domesday Book, the Wahull landholder was Walter de Fleming. According to Burke's Peerage, part of his lands were earned from participation in the Battle of Hastings. There is still a village in Bedfordshire named Odell.

William Odell was the founder of the family in America. He came to Concord in New England in approximately 1638 or 1639 with Reverend Peter Buckeley of the Parish of Edell. William later moved to Fairfield, then to Greenwich, and died c. 1676. He was obviously not a poor man, but wealthy in land. The Odells came to America in great masses that were very well organized and disciplined. They were very careful to come over with families of different occupations, etc., so communities would be completely self-sufficient — this is why they survived so well.

The William Odell family later moved on to Rye and became one of the first settlers there. They then bought land in the Kakiat Patent in the 1720s. It is thought that eventually their lands extended to Sandyfields. It was noted that there was a Nathaniel and Daniel Odle in this area in the 1720s. In the Book of Records of Haverstraw in 1760, a Nathaniel Odle is listed. Some Odells in the Cornwall area kept the Woodhull spelling of the name.

There were several noted Odells in history:

1. Connection with Burma Shave

2. Jonathan Odell, missionary; during Revolutionary War was a Loyalist; tried for treason; after war, settled in New Brunswick, NJ

3. There were 30 or 40 Odells who fought in the Revolutionary War

4. Buffalo Bill's wife was an Odell

5. Isaac Odell was recruited during the Civil War by Abe Lincoln for his Secret Service Agency to investigate General Mead, who was eventually relieved of his command

6. Benjamin Odell was a governor

Sandyfields (also known as Beaver Pond): There is a list of landowners (grantor/grantee) in this area known as Sandyfields (where Lake Welch is today). During the first Sandyfields reunion, every person present was a descendant of John Jacob Odell of Sandyfields. It was a thriving community, and in the late 1800s, many of the residents had been college educated. They were honest, hardworking people, and their word was good. The homes were well built and well kept. Clare's grandfather, Lyman Prittiman Odell, lived in Sandyfields, and the foundation is still there, even though it is under water now. They were very gregarious people — Lyman was a painter and decorator. Religon and education were very important to them. Clare's great grandfather donated the land for the school. At one point there were about 100 families living there, with various occupations. The post office was St. John's Church.

As a final note, Clare noted that a Daniel Odell was murdered by Isaac Jones in 1793, and Isaac was hanged for the crime in New City.

Bear Mountain Countryfolk

Program presented for the Genealogical Society of Rockland County, Historians Roundtable, at New City Library, Sunday, January 28, 1996. Speaker: Palisades Interstate Park Historian Andrew Smith, on the "Bear Mountain Countryfolk" project - a look at Rockland's early villages, the occupants and their lives.

Notes by Florence Anderson & Marie Koestler

Preserving local history, particularly in the park hamlets — How many people know there were villages there? Many do not. Little history has been preserved, no photographs or slides are available. In 1992 Andy Smith became the Park Historian. Jack Focht had a project in mind to tell the history of the Park people. He thought Andy would be a good man to start and carry out the project to a successful completion. Andy grew up in this part of the county, the people know him, his parents, grandparents —they trust him and will talk to him

Why is it difficult to gather information on the hamlets and people of this overlooked and forgotten part of society? — In the 1930s and 1940s, land was absorbed by the Park. The Park became the enemy to the Park people for taking their homes and farms, and they were paid little for their land. Andy hopes this book will help heal some of the hurt feelings of the Park people. There were people recording the stories and reporting them in the newspapers. Many of these stories contained grossly incorrect information concerning the lives of the people who lived in these hamlets. The inhabitants were underpaid for their land and were hurt by the "libelous comments" appearing in the press and there came a time when they refused to speak to anyone about their lives. When they did decide to speak it was to give out inaccurate information — then they could sit back and laugh at the jokes they played on the reporters. Inaccurate research and reporting is still going on today. For example, there was an article on Sandyfields where the Charleston family resided from early times, near St. John's in the Wilderness — the town center. When Andy read the article, he knew something was wrong, he checked with his Mother and others and found the article was full of errors, totally inaccurate, there were people married to the wrong people and even living in the wrong centuries. With this type of reporting, the people lost their family history as well as their land. In this instance, the information came from people living near St. John's; people who were not local and had not done any research of their own on the inhabitants; what they related was hearsay gained in conversations, basically through local gossip.

The Family Project continues today. A book will be published but probably not this year. Andy had made requests for information from people he knew — he had accumulated 100 pages in a short time, and by word-of-mouth he now has much more. The response to his request was great, at least 85% of the people came through with good information. There will be photographs, family trees, anecdotes, interviews. The history will be told. Better late than never.

For example, there is a lady from Texas who has information about Baileytown — this will be compiled in the book also. "The Way It Was Up Home: History of the Vanished Park Hamlets" is growing. There will be chapters on each of the vanished Park hamlets. There may even be a follow-up-book covering favorite recipes, personal insights of life in the early times and more anecdotes. Basket weaving by the natives was a tremendous skill. The people had no natural gas, nor oil burners. Cooking and baking was done on the wood stoves. The only source of heat was wood stoves, fire places and kerosene stoves.

Mr. William H. Meyer of Haverstraw, whose father owned Meyer's Market, related several anecdotes about the days when markets made home deliveries, extended credit, and personal touches were the way of life — before the first supermarkets appeared in the 1940s. Deliveries were made by horse and wagon even through the snow in the winters. The Rockland County Times carried stories about crossing the frozen river (Hudson) on foot, ice-skates, horse and wagons, and sleighs. The Good Old Days! Automobiles had big tires -- 30" diameter x 3-1/2. They were good for driving in the snow because the roads were not plowed in the winter but the sidewalks were. This was usually done by a horse pulling a homemade pointed plow which a man guided.

Another story was about Isaiah Jones of Sandyfields. Isaiah had a store there, but came to Haverstraw to Meyer's Market to get supplies. He was a tall, lank, gangling man sort of like Abraham Lincoln. Meyer's Market had about 20 clerks in the store — they liked to play jokes (the major form of amusement in those days). One day Isaiah came to town in his Model T Ford truck — no brakes — he drove it into the curb to stop. He went into the market to get his supplies. In the meantime some of the clerks decided to play a practical joke — they covered the exhaust with a potato. Isaiah went out to crank up the truck, nothing happened; he tried again, and again. At last he gave it a good crank, the potato flew off the truck's exhaust straight across the street into the candy store window. That was the kind of humor and fun people had in those days.

Andy's grandfather was a great storyteller. He told about the time in Sandyfields when "crooked smoke from crooked wood wouldn't go up the straight chimney."

Mr. Meyer went to school with Andy's father who used to tell a tale about "running out of feed for the chickens, so he fed them sawdust. When the eggs hatched, there were four woodpeckers, and a fifth had wooden legs."

Many of the Park policemen knew the Park people well and gave many anecdotes. There is one old story about a mother whose daughter graduated and became a teacher in the school at Sandyfields. The mother didn't think that that was a good place for her daughter to be, and she arranged for two men to go with her and bring her daughter home — a kidnapping case!

The eight vanished hamlets are Doodletown which was the largest and the last to disappear in 1965 (roughly 200-300 people). Johnsontown with about 100 people, is now under Lake Sebago. Sandyfield with about 100 people, is under Lake Welch (1940s). Baileytown, off Route 6, toward Woodbury Commons of today, at the crest of the hill west of the now Summit Lake. At the Long Mountain traffic circle above Anthony Wayne Park was Queensboro (we have a picture of Weiant's rooming house). There was Pine Meadow where Ramsay Conklin, and the Starr families lived. Woodtown and Pittsboro or Pittown Hollow between Horsestable Rock and Catamount Mountain off Route 202. That went after WW II. Rockland Lake, while not in the Bear Mountain area, was another hamlet taken over by the Park Commission. This was in the 1950s or '60s.

The Park Commission will be publishing the Doodletown Book soon. After that, discussions and work will begin on getting the Family History Project book ready.

Q. How did Doodletown get its name? A. There are several stories about that, one, it is of Dutch derivation -- doo and dell meaning dead valley. Another: during the Revolution when troops marched on Forts Clinton and Montgomery, they mocked the locals by singing "Yankee Doodle."

The Harriman family donated a great deal of land and millions of dollars so the State would not build a prison on Bear Mountain (where the Inn is now located.) 40% of the land on Bear Mountain had belonged to the Harrimans.

Why were the people moved? Major Welch, head of the Park, had a plan to build many lakes, roads, etc., and the villages were in the way. A few people were given life rights, but the majority had to sell. It was the same all over the United States when the National Park Service decided an area should become a national park.

The people in the Park area — the early settlers—were basically Dutch, English, and Protestant Scotch-Irish. In the 1800s there came the Germans, Scandinavians, and a few French. Some of the villages go back to Colonial times.

Jack Focht and Andy thought it would be good to start reunions of the people who had lived in the hamlets. The first reunion was for those who had lived in Sandyfields. It turned out all had a common ancestor. There were Conklins and O'Dells in the area since the 1600s. Much controversy over which one came first.

There were also Montrosses (French via Canada). The Odells dominated Westchester County at one time. Their name came from Woodhull — pronunciations changed it into Odell. Clare Odell Schaper has become the unofficial genealogist of the family.

All but two lakes in the Park are manmade: Hession Lake is one (first known as Lake Assinipinck, Highland Lake and Bloody Pond). The other is Island Pond.

In Rockland Lake (next to the last to become extinct), the people were reimbursed for their homes but not much. The people formed a Home Defense Fund which was used to fight the loss of their homes. They had to accept the money offered or lose their homes without reimbursement (take it or leave it). Many had no deeds and lost everything. Today there are Park personnel living in some of the houses. Very few photographs of the area.

A home built by Mr. Walter Briggs "Bucky" Buchanan (head of Karo Syrup Company) on private property on Gate Hill was named ORAK (Karo spelled backward.) The house was torn down in 1971. Mr. Buchanan was a financial benefactor to Sandyfields. One of the stained glass windows at St. John's was dedicated in his memory as he gave a lot of money to the church and he was a good friend of the people of Sandyfields.

Silver mine - many legendary tales. Spanish Silver Mine (see Rocklandia article). Jones Point (Caldwell's Landing) — stories of a boat with six sailors landing there in the spring and disappearing into the woods until a boat came to pick them up in the fall. There is a story of the last pick up trip of the Spanish sailors at Caldwell's; they were drinking and showed off the silver rocks in their sacks. There was a fight. See Trailside Papers for story.

The legend of the Lost Davis Mine is in Wilfred Tallman's book "How Things Began." The area was a great hot bed of mining activity. The hills in the park have several old abandoned mines, mostly iron. On top of this the trees were chopped down to fuel the furnaces at the brickyards in Haverstraw. Chestnut trees were the dominate species at that time.

In the 1930s there were many searches for the lost mines; investigations did not locate them. When the CCC and WPA were dynamiting in the Park areas, one group of searchers timed their dynamiting to the same time periods to avoid detection.

The manmade lakes came about by damming the swamps and streams in the areas. Hasenclever (the iron miner) first dammed the swamps which later became Lake Tiorati. Several lakes were not finished at the time the CCC pulled out in 1934.

Mr. Benewies, Executive Director of the Park Commission and Jack Focht have re-activated the Park publishing company. Doodletown will be the first publication, and then Andy's book. Andy can be contacted by mail or telephone:

Andy Smith, Trailside Museum, Bear Mountain, NY 10901; telephone: 914-786-2701, ext. 293 (voice mail) or at the Office at Perkins Tower: 914-942-5873.

(There was a discussion re: age of trees.) There are four spruce trees at St. John's that were thought to date from 1880. Someone had a photograph of the trees taken in 1890 when they were already about 12" in diameter, so they possibly date from the Civil War period or before. Girth of a tree is not an indication of its age. Some trees gain greater circumference in less time than others.

The following reunions were started by the Park

through Andy Smith:

1993: Sandyfields, Johnsontown at St. John's.

1994: Pine Meadow reunion at the dam site.

1995: Sandyfields No. 2

1996: Les Baisley, Florence Anderson, Andy Smith will start another one.

1994 and 1995 - two Doodletown reunions

Andy would like to see one gigantic reunion of people from all eight vanished hamlets (in scope, it would be like planning a world's fair). It is a dream come true to have the Park initiate these reunions, to establish a tradition.

Another note on ORAK, (1938). There was one room with a long wall made of glass behind which was an aquarium. Mr. Buchanan had the floor constructed in such a way that it would have a slight pitch and roll so his guests would feel that they were on board ship. He even had sound effects that produced a sloshing sound.

Reference was made by Mr. Meyers that Pat Gordon, secretary of the village's Chamber of Commerce, is working on the establishment of a Brick Museum at Lucas Candy Store, 6 Main Street, Haverstraw.

The meeting ended with overwhelming applause. Bob Devino, Local History Librarian, New City Library, thanked everyone for coming and noted that this was the first of several planned joint programs and hoped that all would be as successful.

MISCELLANEOUS GENEALOGICAL TIPS

• Do you know why soldiers have a vertical stripe down their trousers? It's because long ago they used to button them down the sides, the buttons being hidden by a flap of braid.

• To read very dim writing in records, use a black 75-watt lightbulb.

• According to an item in The Family Tree, published by Ellen Payne Odom Genealogy Library (Vol. VI, no. 2), church records are an excellent source for maiden names of female ancestors. Don't assume the religion of your ancestor — some people joined or attended the closest church each time they moved. In general, Scots were Presbyterian; Irish in the 1800s, Roman Catholic; Germans, Lutheran, Roman Catholic or Jewish; Scandanavians, Lutheran. University libraries are good sources of church histories and records; also check your local Family History Center for microfilm copies.

• Born in Virginia? According to an item in The Family Tree, published by Ellen Payne Odom Genealogy Library (Vol. VI, no. 2), citing thanks to The Appleland Bulletin and Florence Chadbourne, if a reference is made to a person having been born in Virginia as early as 1728 or as late as 1863, it could mean that he or she was born in any part of the following states: Illinois from 1781-1818; Indiana from 1781-1816; Kentucky from 1775-1792; Maryland from 1775-1792; North Carolina from 1728-1779; Ohio from 1778-1803; Pennsylvania from 1752-1786; Tennessee from 1760-1803; or all of West Virginia from 1769-1863.

• A tip from Everton's Genealogical Helper (Jan-Feb 1996): Did you know that hard-to-read microfilm documents can be reconstructed to remove the spots and stains? Write for information to Ancestral Transcriptions,

Summer Civil War Programs at New City Library

The New City Library, 220 North Main Street, New City, NY will sponsor a series of programs and exhibits focusing on the Civil War from June through August. For more information and a schedule, call the Library at (914) 634-4997/4962.

The 1855 New York State Census, Rockland County, Town of Ramapo, 2nd Election District, will continue in the next issue.

ANCESTOR TABLES

In order to increase interaction between members, the Society has begun to publish Ancestor Tables, which are a brief listing of the ancestry of members. These tables will be printed in expanded editions of the newsletter for a year, after which the Board will evaluate the response and decide whether to continue publishing these tables. It is hoped that members will find distant cousins who share common lines, which will further the research efforts of both.

Other members are encouraged to submit their Ancestor Tables to Bob Protzmann, 4 Ethel Drive, New City, NY 10956, who will assist the editor in their preparation for publication.

Please note: the Genealogical Society of Rockland County and its editor are not responsible for the accuracy of the Ancestor Tables.

We remind our contributors that they should be submitting only documented ancestors. Please do not submit names that are not well documented. If there is any uncertainty, then the listing should be preceded by a "?".

Anyone interested in a particular ancestor or ancestral line should contact the submitter for details and documentation.

Anyone who has contradictory data or corrections should send a note to the Newsletter editor, or to Bob Protzmann at the address above, as well as directly to the submitter.

The numbering system used is as follows: The submitter is number 1. The father's number is twice the number of the son or daughter; i.e. double that of the child. Each wife's number is one higher than that of her husband. Even numbers are always male ancestors; odd numbers always female ancestors (except for #1 which is the number assigned to the subject of the table). If all ancestors were known, then all numbers would be used; where ancestors are not known, those numbers are omitted.

If you have brief comments, corrections, or additions to a published ancestor table, or wish to note additional sources, published articles, etc., send them (referencing the Ancestor Table name, date of issue in which published, and the individual person's number in that Ancestor Table) to Bob Protzmann at the address above. We will publish these in a continuing dialogue, in the ANCESTOR TABLE FORUM.
