ACKERMAN FAMILY MEMBERS NAMED IN REVOLUTIONARY WAR PENSIONS

Contributed by Phillip O'Leary

While abstracting Revolutionary War pensions of soldiers from Bergen Co., NJ, I came across the following information concerning our Ackerman cousins. All of the following Ackermans are not mentioned as Revolutionary Soldiers in Barbara Tobey's, "The Ackerman Family", Vol. I, 1980, and Vol. II, 1988.

James L. Ackerman, (#5.43, Ackerman Family, Vol. I, pp. 58) Testifies as a "fellow soldier" in the Revolution on 22 Oct., 1832, age 68, of Bergen Co., NJ, Common Pleas Court, in the Rev. War pension application of John VanHouten. (W2027)

Johannes (John) Ackerman. (#4.31, Ackerman Family, Vol. I, pp. 26). In the Rev. War pension application of John H. Post, (W866), Post stated in the Bergen Co., NJ, Common Pleas Court, on 31 Oct., 1832; "I was in the service with my brother-in-law, John Ackerman." This John Ackerman was married first to Elizabeth Post, "probably" the sister of John H. Post.

Johannis (John) D. Ackerman. (#5.223, Ackerman Family, Vol. I, pp. 95) Although he does not state that he was a "fellow soldier" in the Revolution, John D. Ackerman gives detailed testimony, that indicates he was indeed a soldier, in Bergen Co., NJ, Common Pleas Court, 10 Jul., 1854, age 90, of Hohokus, on behalf of the Rev. War pension applications of George Dearman (R2818), Garret A. Hopper (R5219), and John A. Hopper (R5220).

Galyn Ackerman (#5.261a, Ackerman Family, Vol. II, pp. 98). Testified as a "fellow soldier" in the Revolution, (as "Goline Ackerman") of Bergen Co., NJ, in Bergen Co. Common Pleas Court, in the pension application case of Abraham Parkhurst (S34465). Parkhurst gives Goline Ackerman's age as 68 on 15 May 1828. Although the Ackerman Family Genealogy states Galyn's birth year as circa 1763, and Parkhurst's testimony would indicate Galyn was born circa 1760, they are probably one in the same. Because of the dates, he could not be Gelyn Ackerman, (#4.46, Ackerman Family, Vol. I, pp. 30, 1722 - 1800) Gelyn Ackerman, (#5.250, Ackerman Family, Vol. I, pp. 100, 1760 - 1824) or Guilian / Geleen Ackerman (#6.160, Ackerman Family, Vol. II, pp. 30).

GERMAN GENEALOGY

A Program presented by Frank Poole at the October 26, 1999 GSRC Meeting.

When working on German Genealogy, it helps to understand that the country went through many revolutions. It has been estimated that more than of Americans have German ancestry. There were even some German settlers in the Jamestown Colony. In the 1790 census, 6% of the population spoke German, predominantly in Pennsylvania.

Before the 1850's, ships took eight to twelve weeks to cross to America. The people had good reasons for leaving their country. After the Thirty Years War, which resulted in the Treaty of Westphalia, the country was almost totally destroyed. Near the end of the eighteenth century, Napoleon's Army occupied the land west of the Rhine. During WW II, many places were bombed out. Fortunately, most of the damage had now been repaired and buildings restored.

Other reasons they left were to get their own land, get fair pay, and have political independence. Ship's Agents came into being, recruiting people to go to America. Reaching the ports of embarkation, however, was very difficult, especially from the south of Germany. By the time many people got to Rotterdam, they had no money left, and if they wanted to embark on a ship, they were "sold" as indentured servants to work off their passage. Many traveled in steerage, which was very uncomfortable. If they elected to stay in Rotterdam, the Queen of England at that time offered them free land in Ireland, and many took advantage of that offer. For the other Germans in the country, it wasn't easy to get to England, since they had to travel through all the small, independent principalities, which all had their own laws. In fact, each principality even had it's own passports, and most emigrants had to prove they had served in the military, or a passport wouldn't be issued.

Not all Germans emigrated to America. They also went to other lands, including the devastated Hungary. Catherine the Great and Tsar Alexander offered free land, which attracted the Germans. Later, that privilege was revoked, and they emigrated elsewhere.

Most of the Germans who settled in Jamestown in 1608 were glass makers and carpenters. In the 1700's, Germans from the Palatinate settled in Germantown, Pennsylvania. In fact there was a great migration of Germans to Pennsylvania between the years 1683 and 1820. From 1820 to 1871, they traveled to the Midwest and Texas. After 1871, they came to the large cities, such as New York, Chicago, and St. Louis. In almost every town in which they settled, a brewery was started.

The northern German emigration ports were Bremen and Hamburg, and the southern port was LeHarve, France. There are lists for these ports, which are available on microfilm at the LDS libraries. Unfortunately, in 1875, Bremen decided not to keep passenger lists that were more than two years old, so they were destroyed. It wasn't until 1907 that they decided to keep the lists. Some duplicates of the destroyed records were found, but most of them were then lost in World War II. The information on these lists included last residence.

Be careful when using the reference, "Germans to America" series. It has many mistakes. Those who copied the records did not distinguish between the number "zero" and the letter "o". These books can be helpful, but one must be aware of the possibility of errors, and use other sources. From the references in these books, you can then look for the particular list in the National Archives. Germany itself does not have a "national archives." All the records are kept in their particular localities.

Frank Poole has traveled to Germany on a three week Elderhostel trip. He had studied high school German, and could get by with the language. He stayed on an extra week to visit the towns where his family had lived. The Church of Latter Day Saints Library has many German church records, but most of them are in the German language. In Catholic Germany, the records are written in Latin, and, in some places, they are in French with a different calendar. If you are not sure of the religion of your ancestor, and if there was a "mixed" marriage, the male children were usually baptized in the fathers religion, and females in the mother's. Baptism, marriage, and confirmation records sometimes give dates of birth. The Mormons are beginning to film East Germany records, and also Russian records. The German records microfilmed by the Mormons are filed by principality as they were in 1871.

Be aware of changes in spelling of names; i.e., Foth, Voth. People often had two or three names. There are many dialects, which can also affect reading the records. Until this century, a man didn't necessarily keep his surname. If the wife had property, the husband might take the name of her family farm. If their son married a woman who had property, he might also take a different name.

Concerning burial records, unless you were wealthy, after thirty years, your grave plot was reused for someone else.

A wonderful resource is "Meyers' Gazetteer", which is on microfilm in the LDS libraries in both Mahwah and Emerson, NJ. This gazetteer describes many of the old towns and localities. Unfortunately, it is written in the old Gothic, and is very difficult to read. There are also many abbreviations. If what you are looking for is not in Meyers, then it might be found in Mueller's, which is also on microfilm.

This includes many towns that were given to Poland.

Frank handed out the following information.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

364 - VanHouten. (Karen Lamberton asked for info on the parents of Greta VanHouten).

Answer

My father, David H. Spear, b. 1909 Oakland, NJ, was first cousin to Greta VanHouten and her brother Lester VanHouten. They lived in Wycoff, NJ.
As a small child I remember visiting their parents home,
(my great aunt and uncle) Grace Bush VanHouten and Peter VanHouten. I have vivid memories of my great Aunt Grace, but My great uncle passed away in 1930.
Grace Bush was born July 31, 1870, in Crystal Lake,

Franklin Lakes, Bergen Co., NJ. She died 16 July 1963 in Wyckoff, NJ. POETRY CORNER

Dear Ancestor

Your tombstone stands among the rest;
Neglected and alone.
The name and date are chiseled out ,
On polished, marbled stone.

It reaches out to all who care,
It is too late to mourn.
You did not know that I exist,
You died, and I was born.

Yet each of us are cells of you,
In flesh, in blood, in bone.
Our blood contracts and beats a pulse,
Entirely not our own.

Dear Ancestor, the place you filled,
One hundred years ago,
Spreads out among the ones you left,
Who would have loved you so.

I wonder if you lived and loved,
I wonder if you knew,
That someday I would find this spot,
And come to visit you.

ANCESTOR TABLES

In order to increase interaction between members, the society will continue to publish Ancestor Tables, which are brief listings of the ancestry of members. These tables will be printed in expanded versions of the Newsletter, and the Board will evaluate member response. While response remains positive, publication will continue. It is hoped that members will find distant cousins who share common lines, which will further the research efforts of all. All members are encouraged to submit their Ancestor Tables to Bob Protzmann, 4 Ethel Drive, New City, NY 10956. Bob will assist in their preparation for publication.

PLEASE NOTE: The Genealogical Society of Rockland County, and its editor, are not responsible for the accuracy of the Ancestor Tables. Please do not submit names that are not well documented. If there is any uncertainty, then the listing should be preceded by a "?". Anyone interested in a particular ancestor, or ancestral line, should contact the submitter for details and documentation.

The numbering system used is as follows. The submitter is #1. The father's number is double that of the child. Each wife's number is one more than the husband. Even numbers are always male, odd numbers always female except for #1, which is always assigned to the subject of the table. If you have comments, corrections, etc., to a published Ancestor Table, please send them, (referencing the Ancestor Table, name and date of issue) to Bob Protzmann at the address above. We will publish these comments and corrections, etc., in a continuing dialogue in the Ancestor Table Forum.

How Big is the Garden, Dear ??

An acre of land is supposed to be the area that could be plowed by an ox in a day.

A hide of land, about 120 acres, is the amount of land an ox could plow in a year.

A Hundred hides was the original subdivision of a county in England, called a Hundred.

A virgate is another measure of land, not well defined, but between 25 and 35 acres. A farmer with a virgate of land would be able to produce a surplus of food and thus build wealth. Half a virgate was considered subsistence farming.

The ox was used for plowing until about 150 years ago when horses became more common.

The Romans never learned how to harness a horse to pull a plow, a skill that was not learned until about 1200. Cows were originally kept only as breeding stock to produce oxen; milk came from goats and sheep.

Makes you wonder what those folks would think of our modern supermarkets??

ORIGINS OF IRISH NAMES

COFFEY: Derived from an ancient Celtic sept (Irish clan) recorded in Ireland as early as the 12th century. They were descended from Ith, the royal family of Spain, and through the female line, from the royal family of Gaul. The original sept, "Cobhthaigh", meaning victorious, included a number of kings and lords with castles in southern Ireland, especially County Cork. Genealogical and family records collected by H.A. Coffey in 1836 included princes, poets, sages, even a druid. Through the centuries the name was modified as O'Cowhig, then anglicized to Coffee. By 1768 the family had been deprived of their large properties.

O'BRIEN: This royal family originated with the grandson of Brian Boru, who became high king of Ireland in 1002 AD and died at the Battle of Clontarf in 1040 AD - the end of Viking power in Ireland. Brian was born a prince of Tormond, and later became High King and Monarch of all Ireland. He had at least four wives. It is estimated there are over 200,000 O'Briens worldwide.

O'DONNELL: Niall, one of the Nine Hostages, was High King of Ireland from 308 to 405. One of his many sons settled in Tir Conail, "Connell's Territory" (now Donegal). From him descend the O'Donnells, numerous in Clare, Limerick and Tipperary Counties. In Kilmacrenan, north of Letterkenny, Godfrey O'Donnell (died in 1258) was made chief of his sept. He was continuously engaged in tribal warfare with his sept kinsmen, the O'Neils. Red Hugh O'Donnell (1572 - 1602), whose father relinquished his chief ship to his son, continued the war against the English. In 1601 he was involved in the defeat of Irish forces at Kinsale, which saw the end of the old Gaelic order, and the tribal system, in Ireland. His brother Rory, (1575 - 1608) joined in the flight of the Earls to Spain in 1607. From that time on, many of Irish descent became prominent in continental Europe.

O'DOHERTY: (Daugherty, Dockerty). The name is from "Dochartach", son and heir of Maongal, and grandson of Fianan, Lord of Inishowen, third son of Ceannfaola, Prince of Tir Connell. He was 12th in lineal descent from Conall Gulban. Gulban was a Milesian prince of the royal house of Heremon, who won possession of the area now called Donegal in the early 5th century. The name "Dochartach" means hurtful, or disobliging. It has been anglicized in many ways. In 1890, O'Doherty was the 15th most common name in Ireland- about 20,800 in a total population of 4,717,959. The name is now common in Scotland, due to Irish immigration.

ELLIOT Descended from M. Aliot, who came to England from Normandy with William the Conqueror in 1066, and held distinguished rank in his army. Tradition says that when William set foot in England he slipped and fell. He sprang up immediately and said it was a happy omen- he had embraced the land of which he was to become the sovereign. Elliot vowed he would maintain, with his blood, the right of his lord to sovereignty over the land. From this family ancestor are descended Eliot of Port Eliot, Elliot of Minto, and Elliot of Stobbs- the last two in Roxburgh County.

TAYLOR: While Taylor was an English occupational name, (the 5th most common in England) it stems from the Norman "Tailloir"- a tailor. The name was early in Ireland. Jordan Scissor, alias Taylor, was among the freeholders in Finglas, County Dublin, in 1228. Nicholas Taylor, a grandson of Edward Taylor, chief falconer to King Henry III, was in Ireland in 1273. Many of the Taylors who came to Ireland became titled persons. There were Taylors in counties Louth, Dublin, Kildare, Leitrim, Wexford, Mayor and Galway- the great majority (800) in the Dublin area, about 200 in the rest of the country.
