From The President's Desk:

The alumni of Happy Valley School in Pomona, NY celebrated its 100th Anniversary during a Centennial Reunion on February 18th, 2011. Happy Valley School was in existence from 1911 to 1974 but in the hearts of those who spent a portion of their childhood years there it lives on forever. Happy Valley School was an outgrowth of The Five Points of Industry which was established in the worst ghetto of New York City in 1854. How life was like there in the 19th Century can be seen in the motion picture, The Gangs of New York. During the 1911 Diphtheria Epidemic the Board of Trustees of the Five Points House felt they must get the impoverished children under their care out of New York City. A Board member, William Church Osborne who owned 311 acres in Pomona, NY donated the land to establish a home for neglected and abandoned children. Claude Boorum, a former Principal in the Garrison School System and friend of William Church Osborne, NY was appointed Superintendent of Happy Valley Colony. Boorum loved farming and cared deeply about children His boundless energy guided the establishment of Happy valley Colony for 20 years. When he left in 1931 over 155 children were residents and another 280 children were in Boarding homes. From the age of 7 to 17, I grew up at HV along with my brothers and a sister. We spent the 1950's there and it had a major impact on my life and on the lives of thousands of children who at one time or another called Happy Valley School home. Many of its children served ably in the cause of freedom and became pillars of their community. Mel Hancock, a former resident of HV is making a documentary about the history of Happy Valley School. We invite all our members and those who grew up there to attend this fascinating lecture presented by The Genealogical Society of Rockland County.

INTERESTING WEBSITES:

- Where are genealogical records heading for the future?
By Sally Pellegrini
  - Suggestions from the audience: Digital recordings rather than microfilm computer printouts and even books. The County Clerk's Office and the County Archives are in the process of digitizing records, as well as the Clarkstown Town Clerk's Office.
  - The shelf life of current forms of keeping records have not proven to be permanent. In the past, very early written documents on (linen/cotton) paper, papyrus, and chiseled recordings in stone have proven to be permanent if properly cared stored.
  - A video of the National Genealogical Society was shown; and examples of how to search on Google. Sites visited on screen were New Jersey Cemeteries and Find-a-Grave. It was noted that the United States Railroad Retirement Board has records after 1936 for people who have worked for railroads.
- Another site visited was the National Archives and Maritime records.
- Check out Hudson River Valley Heritage site for local photographs.
- Sally called attention to Hart Island in New York - this is where the survivors of the Slocum disaster were taken; today it is home to many homeless people.
- Henry Rennie Googled: "Northern New York Libraries" and demonstrated how he found family information in historical newspapers in the area. He has had luck in researching family names via the local news files, gossip columns and the columns with titles like "25, 50, 75, and/or 100 years ago." These historical newspapers are in PDF format and are searchable. Items of interest can be cut and pasted into a computer document.
- The Rockland County Times has a weekly column in this format that is very informative and informative.
- Bob Protzmann had occasion to search Mansiona and Architects on www.oldlongisland.com for an architect ancestor. He entered the name and found several names; by a process of elimination he found his ancestor.
- Manhattan Landmarks:
<http://epicharmus.com/masterpiece/labels/>
- Google: Old Brooklyn (it is searchable)
- Other sites: www.google.com www.archives.org
- www.rootsweb.org www.familysearch.org is a good starting point to locate information. Enter a family name and you may get various records: census, ancestral file, etc.
- www.rootsweb.org is another good starting point.
- The New York Times can be googled and read free!
